PREFACE

This little book has been compiled for the purpose of rescuing from unmerited oblivion and preserving in a permanent form a record of the descendants of John Beatty and Susanna Asfordby, as well as with the aim to kindle and keep alive, in those of their line now living, a love and veneration for their memories. For a more detailed account of their antecedents—with proof of such pedigrees as are therein given—the reader is referred to “The Ancestry of Leander Howard Crall.” My brief sketch contains no statement which can not be verified by history, well authenticated records, and the highest genealogical authorities.

An ardent desire to preserve family data worthy of being transmitted to posterity has been the main incentive of this work; and, if my kindred shall speak kindly of my humble effort, studying it with a desire to find from whom they are sprung, and to be exalted thereby in their lives, I shall be more than repaid for the labor and pains expended herein.

MRS. RUDOLPH SAMUEL TURK.

DESCENDANTS OF JOHN BEATTY AND
SUSANNA ASFORDBY

FIRST GENERATION

1. JOHN¹ BEATTY, founder of the distinguished Beatty Family of Ulster County, New York, was born in Ireland and was a descendant of the ancient landed and armigerous family of Beatty of that country, boasting descent from Prince Geoffrey of Scotland, an ally of Brian Boru, who participated in the battle of Clontarf, 1014 A.D.

The exact date of the emigration of John Beatty to America is not known. The first mention of him in the Ulster County Records is 29 September, 1691, when he was returned, with five others, for Sheriff of Ulster County. The prominence of this office would argue that he had been a resident some time and had proved his worthiness of that trust. He was first resident of Esopus, now Kingston, and later moved to Marbletown, where he was a large land holder. On 9 June, 1719, a tract of land containing seven hundred acres was confirmed to him and his heirs by the Trustees of Marbletown.

He was Trustee of Marbletown for many years and was Deputy Surveyor of the Province of New York, in which capacity he surveyed and laid out the famous Manor of Livingston at the request of Robert Livingston, the first Patroon, this document being still in possession of the Livingston family. It was an important factor at the time of the notable Anti-rent agitation in New York State during the last century.

John Beatty married 7 November, 1691, Susanna Asfordby, by whom he had ten children, all of whom are mentioned in his will. His death occurred in Ulster County, New York, between 26 April, 1720, and 9 March, 1721, the respective dates of the making and proving of his will. Besides his children he mentions also in his will his "trusty and well beloved wife, Susanna," and his "poor afflicted and distressed brother, Thomas Beatty, in Ireland," who had become blind, and their half sister who was taking care of him.*

Susanna Asfordby, daughter and co-heiress of the Honorable William Asfordby of Stayne-in-the-Marsh, Lincolnshire, England, and Kingston and Marbletown, Ulster County, New York, the wife of the above John Beatty, was born probably in Ulster County, New York, soon after her parents emigrated to America. No record of her birth or baptism has been found, but as the English records end with the birth of three children to her parents in England, before their emigration, it is reasonable to infer that all the others were born in Kingston or Marbletown, Ulster County, where they settled.

William Asfordby, the father of Susanna Asfordby, was a descendant of the royal line of Plantagenet, Kings of England, through his great-great-great-grandmother, Alice Dymoke, as has been shown elsewhere in Part 1 of this volume. He brought with him from England a parchment containing twelve generations of his English ancestry, compiled by the then Herald of Arms, R. Chester. This ancient document passed from one generation of his descendants to another and is now in the possession of Mr. Leander Howard Crall of New York City, a descendant of Robert Beatty, the oldest child of John Beatty and Susanna Asfordby.†

William Asfordby became a prominent man in the affairs of the young colony with whose destiny he had cast in his lot, his name appearing frequently upon the old Dutch records of Ulster County. He was a magistrate for many years and held Court as Presiding Judge on many occasions. He was Sheriff of the District of Esopus, and later of Ulster County, when that County was erected, and was a member of the first

New York Assembly. He had married in England, Martha, daughter of William Burton of Burgh-in-the-Marsh, Lincolnshire, England, and of their eight children Susanna was the oldest surviving and, with her two sisters, Eleanor and Catherine, inherited the estate of her father and mother; the only son of William Asfordby dying in infancy. The will of William Asfordby was made orally, before three friends, of whom John Beatty was one. His wife, Martha, was made sole heir and executrix. The will is recorded at Kingston, Ulster County, New York.

Susanna Asfordby was a remarkable woman in many ways; the experiences of those early pioneer days developing in her the sterling qualities of her parentage. She was married 7 November, 1691, to John Beatty and survived him many years. Some time after his death she removed, with a portion of her family, to Prince George County, Maryland, settling in that portion of it now known as Frederick County. Here she made large purchases of land. On 17 July, 1732, she bought one thousand acres from Daniel Dulany, and in May of the year following she purchased from Captain John Stoddart nine hundred and thirty-nine acres of land situated on the west bank of the Monacacy River.

She thus owned about two thousand acres in Frederick County and she and her sons at once acquired a prominent position among the largest landed proprietors and most eminent citizens of that county. The Land Records of Prince George County shows that during her lifetime Susanna Beatty transferred large farms to three of her sons, who had accompanied her South, William, Thomas and Edward, and she seems to have displayed an energy, combined with a degree of business and executive ability, rarely found in a woman. Her will was the first one recorded in Frederick County. It is dated 20 June, 1742, and was proved 30 October, 1745,* her death occurring probably shortly before the latter date. She describes herself as "Susanna Beatty of Manocosey in Prince George County in the Province of Maryland," and mentions all of her children but Charles and Henry. Charles is known to have died in Marbletown, Ulster County, New York, and it is probable that Henry was also dead prior to this date. Her oldest son, Robert, also died before his mother, and she mentions this fact in bequeathing his portion to his children. The original Asfordby Parchment, mentioned above, had been brought with her to Maryland and now descended to her second son, William; the oldest son, whose right of inheritance it was, being dead.

Children:

- 2 i ROBERT BEATTY, oldest child, born in Marbletown about 1692-93. He was member of the Marbletown Infantry 1715-17; fence viewer 1721; executor of his brother, Charles, 11 March, 1727; freeholder 1728; died prior to 1742, when his mother made her will and mentioned him as deceased. He married in 1719 Bata, daughter of Joris Middagh of Heicop, Holland, and Brooklyn, New York, and of his wife, Marritje Martens Van Ysselsteyn.
- 3 ii WILLIAM BEATTY (see second generation).
- 4 iii CHARLES BEATTY, baptized 1698; died 1727. He married Janette, daughter of Thomas Jansen, by whom he had one child, Bata, both of whom he mentions in his will, made 20 March, 1726, proved 11 March, 1727. Neither Charles nor his daughter are mentioned in his mother's will.
- 5 iv AGNES BEATTY, baptized 29 October, 1699; was living unmarried when her mother made her will in 1742.
- 6 v JOHN BEATTY, baptized 2 March, 1701. He was a freeholder of Marbletown in 1728. Removed to Maryland, where his will was proved in Cecil County 1 June, 1749. He mentions wife, Elizabeth, and "beloved children," but gives no names of the latter.

- 7 vi JUDGE THOMAS BEATTY, baptized 14 March, 1703; removed to Maryland, where he acquired considerable estate. He was Justice of Prince George County from 1739 to 1748; of Frederick County in 1748 and 1749, 1752 to 1760, and was a member of the Maryland House of Burgesses 1757 and 1758. His will was made in February, 1768, and proved 8 April, 1769. In it he mentions wife, Mary, and children, Thomas, Charles, Susanna (wife of Nethan Maynard), James and Sarah, the last two being minors at the time.
- 8 vii EDWARD BEATTY, mentioned in wills of both his parents, was born in Ulster County, New York. Although no record of his baptism is found on the register of the old Dutch Church at Kingston, it is presumable that he was born there, as the family are known to have been continuous residents of that part till the father's death and the other children were all born there. He, too, removed to Maryland with his mother and acquired land there as early as 1730. His will was made 3 February and proved 18 of same month, 1755. He mentions wife, Susannah, and sons Ezekiel, Ezra and Elijah, also an unborn child. His wife died the following August or September, as her will, also on file at Frederick, was made 18 August and proved 9 September, 1755. She also mentions sons Ezekiel, Ezra and Elijah, with Edward, evidently the posthumous child mentioned by her husband. In a deed executed in 1790 by Ezekiel and Elijah it is recorded that this child died soon after birth.
- 9 viii MARTHA BEATTY (see second generation).

- 10 ix JAMES BEATTY, baptized 11 September, 1709, mentioned in wills of both parents. He removed to Maryland, where he died prior to his mother, although not prior to the date of her will. His own will, recorded at Annapolis, was proved 29 January, 1742-43, a few months before that of his mother. He evidently died unmarried, as he bequeaths all his property equally to his brothers and sisters and the children of his deceased brother, Robert.
- 11 x HENRY BEATTY, baptized 30 December, 1711. He is mentioned in will of his father 1721, but not in his mother's in 1742. He probably died in the interval. No record of his marriage or evidence that he had any children has been found.

SECOND GENERATION

3 WILLIAM² BEATTY (John¹), second child of John Beatty and Susanna Asfordby, was baptized at the old Dutch Church at Kingston, New York, 9 June, 1695.* He was a member of the Marbletown Infantry Militia and a freeholder of Marbletown in 1728. He is mentioned in the wills of both his father and mother. Some years after John Beatty's death his widow removed to Prince George County, Maryland, settling in that part now known as Frederick County, with several of her children. William Beatty was one of these. Here he married Elizabeth Carmack, daughter of Cornelius Carmack of Frederick County. The will of Cornelius Carmack was made 13 May, 1746.†

Elizabeth Carmack died 15 May, 1756, before her husband. He does not mention his wife in his will, which was dated 18 May, 1757, and proved 20 August, 1757. He names as his heirs his son William and his three daughters, Eleanor, Mary and Anne.‡

In a statement made 1 July, 1856, by Eli Beatty of Hagerstown, Maryland, son of William Beatty, Junior (12), and grandson of William Beatty (3), he declares that his father, William Beatty, inherited the original homestead of Susanna Asfordby Beatty from his father, William Beatty, and states also that the tract of land so inherited contained two hundred and sixty-eight acres.

Children:

THIRD GENERATION

14 MARY³ BEATTY (William², John¹), daughter and co-heiress of William Beatty (3) and Elizabeth Carmack. She was twice married, her first husband being Isaac Eltinge, as is recorded in a Petition in Chancery filed 29 February, 1772, in which is the following clause: "The said Sarah widow of the said Rudolph Eltinge on or about the first day of August 1761 intermarried with a certain Josias Clapham, and the said Mary Eltinge widow of Isaac Eltinge also on or about the twenty first day of May 1757 intermarried with a certain John Cary of Frederick County." In her father's will, made 18 May, 1757, she is mentioned as Mary Cary, showing that she was already married to her second husband, John Cary, at that date, which is a little earlier than the one mentioned in the Petition in Chancery.*

John Cary, the second husband of Mary Beatty, was a considerable landholder of Frederick County, Maryland, as is shown by the land records at the Land Office at Annapolis, Md.; the patents granted to him between the years 1752 and 1764 covering about eleven hundred acres of land.† His will is dated 23 November, 1773, and was probated in May, 1777. He makes his wife, Mary, his executrix and divides his estate between her and their five surviving children, two having died in infancy, beside whom he expressed the desire to be buried.‡

Children:

18 i JOHN DHU CARY (see fourth generation).

*A copy of this Petition, which is very lengthy, is in the possession of Dr. Christopher Johnston of Baltimore, a great-grandson of the Josias Clapham mentioned therein.

- 22 v JACOB CARY, born 1766; mentioned as deceased in his father's will in 1773.

17 MARY³ MIDDAGH (Martha² Beatty, John¹), the daughter of Johannes Middagh by his wife, Martha Beatty (9), was born 7 May, 1732.* Her father was the son of Joris or George Middagh, the son of Captain Aert Teunissen Middagh of Heicop, Holland, who emigrated to New Netherland in the early days of the new colony and became one of its leading citizens. The exact date of his emigration is not known, but Stiles, the Brooklyn historian, records the fact that he received a patent for one hundred acres of land 24 October, 1654, at the Wallabout, Long Island, now a part of the city of Brooklyn, New York. The wife of Captain Aert Teunissen was Breckje Hansen Bergen, daughter of Hans Hansen Bergen and Sara de Rapelje. Hans Hansen Bergen was, as his name indicates, Hans son of Hans, of Bergen, Norway. He was the founder of the Bergen Family of Brooklyn, which still has many prominent representatives in that city and elsewhere. He emigrated to New Amsterdam at a very early period. His wife, Sara de Rapelje, is celebrated as being the first female white child born in the colony of New Netherland. She was the daughter of Joris Jansen de Rapelje and Catherine, daughter of Joris Trico of Paris, France, who were among the Walloons and French who, in 1623, helped to establish the first permanent settlement in New Netherland. esting account of these old pioneer families will be found in the monographs and appendices of "The Ancestry of Leander Howard Crall," by Frank Allaben, under the captions of Bergen, de Rapelje, Middagh, Beatty, etc., with full pedigrees showing the intermarriages. To this work we have been indebted for much valuable information in compiling the early part of the present volume from data collected during years of research in Europe and America.

The mother of John Middagh, husband of Martha Beatty and father of Mary Middagh, was Marritje Martens Van Ysselsteyn, daughter of Marten Cornelise Van Ysselsteyn of Ysselsteyn, Holland, who emigrated as early as 1660 and was one of the founders and original proprietors of Schenectady, New York.

Captain Joris Middagh, the son of Captain Aert Teunissen Middagh, seems to have settled in the neighborhood of Kingston, the home of the Beatty family, two of his children marrying into that family. Bata Middagh married Robert Beatty (2), the oldest son of John Beatty (1) and Susanna Asfordby, and John Middagh married Robert's youngest sister, Martha Beatty (9).*

Mary Middagh married 2 August, 1751, William Ritchie, who emigrated from Scotland to America about 1742, the son of Robert Ritchie of Angus, Scotland.†

FOURTH GENERATION

18 DR. JOHN DHU⁴ CARY (Mary³ Beatty, William², John¹), oldest son of John Cary and Mary Beatty (14), was born in July, 1758, at Fredericktown, Maryland. He was an officer in the American Revolution,* and his great-great-grandsons have in their possession (1907) two pistols captured by him from a British officer, and an old land patent issued to him for military service and signed by Thomas Jefferson.

John Dhu Cary was not only a physician of prominence in his native county, but was also a man of high literary attainments, being noted as one of Maryland's poets. He owned and published in Frederick, during the years 1798-1800, a weekly newspaper which he named "The Key" in compliment to his friend, General John Ross Key. He represented his District in the Legislature several terms. He married in 1788 Alice Lee, daughter of Philip Richard Francis Lee and Elinor Lee of Charles County, Maryland. Philip R. F. Lee fought in the colonial wars and had land granted to him for his services as an officer in Maryland. He died in 1778.†

She was born 20 June, 1773, at Hagerstown, Maryland,¶ and was said to have been exceptionally beautiful. She was educated at the best schools for girls that the country afforded at that time. Her children were all well educated and her sons became prominent in their professions. By the second marriage of her father, Dr. Fritchie, she had one half-sister, Mrs. Catherine Thomas of Frederick, Maryland, and one half-brother, John Fritchie, of the same city. John Fritchie married but died without issue, leaving considerable wealth, which, after the death of his widow, was, by the conditions of his will, transferred to his two sisters, Mrs. Thomas and Mrs. Cary. His widow is the subject of Whittier's well-known poem, "Barbara Fritchie."

Maria Barbara Fritchie survived her husband, William Cary, Senior, and married again 16 May, 1808, Robert Ritchie (42) of Fredericktown, Maryland, son of William Ritchie, Junior (26), and his wife, Frances Gilman. She survived Robert Ritchie, also, and died 23 May, 1834, at Fort Ball, near Tiffin, Ohio.††

Georgetown, D. C. While he was at college, Baltimore was threatened by the English fleet, and Cyrus Cary, with some fellow-students, volunteered his services and was in Fort McHenry at the time of its bombardment. After a thorough college education he studied law and began the practice of his profession in Staunton, Va., in partnership with Judge Briscoe G. Baldwin. Later he removed to Lewisburg, Va., now West Virginia, where, in 1820, he married Mary Skiles Arbuckle, by whom he had one daughter, Eliza Green Cary, who died in infancy, and two sons. Cyrus Robert Cary, born 20 February, 1829, died unmarried, and Charles William Cary, born 20 September, 1826, who graduated at the Virginia Military Institute, and later, in medicine, at the University of Virginia. He died unmarried. This line is now extinct. Cyrus Cary was a man of high legal attainment and great eloquence and was one of the most prominent men of his day in Virginia. He was a member of the Legislature of Virginia from Greenbrier County during the session of 1829-30,* and at the time of his death was a candidate for Congress. He died 1 April, 1832, at Lewisburg, Va., in his thirty-eighth year.

Georgetown, D. C. She was educated at Miss Marcella's Seminary at Frederick, Md., and was among those who took part in the reception given in that city to General Lafayette and brilliantly described the occasion in a letter written at that time. She married General Henry Colgate Brish in Frederick, Md., 7 December, 1824, Bishop Johns of the Protestant Episcopal Church performing the ceremony. After some years residence in Frederick they removed to Fort Ball, Ohio, where General Brish became a distinguished citizen. They made the whole distance from Frederick to Tiffin in a covered carriage, the first one brought to Seneca County, landing in Tiffin on July 6, 1828, a Sunday afternoon. They took with them also Mrs. Brish's piano, likewise the first to be seen in Seneca County. It was constructed in London, England, at an early date, and is now in the possession of the Tiffin Historical Society. Among the most important trusts confided to General Brish after his settling in Ohio was the management of the affairs of the Seneca Indians and his appointment by the Government to escort them from Ohio to their new Reservation West of the Mississippi River in the year 1831; for which service he received a large grant of land near Tiffin, upon which handsome estate he lived in affluence until his death in the late fifties, his widow continuing her residence there until her death, 14 March, 1885. They had no children. The following is taken from a History of Seneca County. "General Henry Colgate Brish was twice elected member of the Ohio Legislature—was Common Pleas Judge two terms—was gov. agent who removed the different tribes of Indians from Northern Ohio to their new reservations farther West,* and served in many minor positions of trust and honor the people of Tiffin and Seneca County.”

Maria Barbara Fritchie (Cary) had two children by her second husband, Robert Ritchie, viz.: Frances Maria Ritchie (see sixth generation), and George Gilman Ritchie, who was born 13 January, 1867,† and died unmarried at Tiffin, Ohio.

25 WILLIAM⁴ RITCHIE, JUNIOR (Mary³ Middagh, Martha² Beatty, John¹), oldest son of William Ritchie, the Emigrant, and Mary Middagh (17), was born 27 March, 1753, and married Frances Gilman. He died 18 September, 1814.‡

Children:

40 i WILLIAM RITCHIE, living in Annapolis, Maryland, in 1805.

41 ii ROBERT RITCHIE (see fifth generation).

These two sons of William Ritchie, Junior, and Frances Gilman are the only children of whom we have any record. The letters of William, the second junior of that name, to his brother Robert (see Section 11 of Appendix), speak of the latter as “only brother.” A postscript to one of the letters mentions “Mama and Mariah,” who might be a sister, but there is not suffi-

*“It is a settlement of the Wyandot Indians who inhabit this place. Among the company at breakfast was a mild old gentleman, who had been for many years employed by the United States government in conducting negotiations with the Indians, and who had just concluded a treaty with these people by which they bound themselves, in consideration of a certain annual sum, to remove next year to some land provided for them, west of the Mississippi, and a little way beyond St. Louis. He gave me a moving account of their strong attachment to the familiar scenes of their infancy, and in particular to the burial places of their kindred, and of their great reluctance to leave them. He had witnessed many such removals, and always with pain, though he knew that they departed for their own good. The question whether this tribe should go or stay had been discussed among them a day or two before, in a hut erected for the purpose, the logs of which still lay upon the ground before the inn. When the speaking was done, the ayes and noes were ranged on opposite sides, and every male adult voted in his turn. The moment the result was known, the minority (a large one) cheerfully yielded to the rest, and withdrew all kind of opposition.”—Charles Dickens in “American Notes.”

FIFTH GENERATION

32 GEORGE⁵ CARY (John Dhu,⁴ Mary³ Beatty, William,² John¹), oldest son of Dr. John Dhu Cary (18) and Alice Lee, was born 7 August, 1789, near "Allen's Fresh," Charles County, Maryland. After a classical education he studied law with Chief Justice Taney in Frederick, Maryland, and later he settled in Georgia. He was a member from Georgia of the eighteenth Congress and was often heard in debate with the master statesmen of that period, being a ripe, classical scholar and a fluent speaker. In the annals of Congress for 1823 are recorded two of his speeches; one an answer to the speech of Daniel Webster on the Grecian Cause, the other an answer to Buchanan's advocacy of the erection of a monument to George Washington. Both will attest his eloquence and erudition. He was a political favorite, his friends deeming no position of honor beyond his attainment, and he was once named as a probable candidate for the Presidency of the United States, his chances being weighed against those of his friend, William A. Crawford of Georgia. But his political aspirations were blighted by premature decline in health; his last days being spent in literary retirement and the editing of a journal, "The Hickory Nut." He died at Thomaston, Georgia, 10 September, 1843.

George Cary married 1 January, 1818, Ann Fowke of Maryland, whose line of descent runs back to William Fowke, born 1403, died 1438, known as William Fowke of Brewood, Staffordshire, England. It is said of Ann Fowke Cary that in her girlhood she was the society favorite of Washington, "having the advantage of wealth and the graces of the accomplished." She died

6 June, 1820, and was buried in the Crawford burial ground, Columbia County, Georgia.

C.* Her first husband was Lewis Green, a banker of Frederick, Maryland. He came of the distinguished family of that name of Annapolis, Maryland. They were married 14 March, 1815, and he died 1 February, 1826, at Frederick. She then moved with her three children to Sandusky, Ohio, where, 26 May, 1830, she was married for the second time to Platt Brush, a lawyer. He died 17 August, 1840. Elizabeth Cary survived her second husband for many years; she died 23 September, 1864.†

the Legislature of Virginia from Greenbrier County during the session of 1833-34,* and was the last Marshal of the Greenbrier District Court of Chancery. At the time of his death, 1 April, 1857, he was, and had been for many years, Commissioner in Chancery and the presiding Judge of the County and had held office in the Court of Appeals in Lewisburg from the time of its organization until his death, when the Court conferred the same office upon his only surviving son, James Hervey Otey Cary, who held the position until the Confederate War closed the sessions of the Court.

William Cary, Junior, was married 2 April, 1828, to Ophelia Mathews, born December 8, 1811, died March 11, 1866, eldest daughter of John Mathews of Greenbrier County, Va., and Catherine Pope, also of Virginia. John Mathews, born 30 October, 1768, died November 10, 1849, was the son of William Mathews (born 1742, died November, 1772) and his wife, Frances Crowe. William Mathews was the son of Captain John Mathews (of lineal descent from Lord David, founder of the Welsh clan of Mathews), who settled in Augusta County, Virginia, 1737. His wife was Anne Archer, daughter of Lieutenant Sampson Archer, of Virginia. Captain John Mathews served in the Colonial wars, as did also Lieutenant Archer.† The will of William Cary, Junior, is on file at the Office of the Register of Wills for Frederick County.‡

To his mother and sisters he was the soul of filial devotion—of the highest type of the Virginian gentleman—a man of the most sterling qualities. His death occurred suddenly in Staunton, Virginia, 15 November, 1895, and he lies buried in the Old Stone Church in Lewisburg, West Virginia.
- 52 v ELIZA ELEANOR CARY, born 2 May, 1838; died unmarried November, 1855.

On the death of Judge Patton he was appointed to the Supreme Bench of the State, and elected to a full term at the next election. During a portion of his incumbency he was President of the Court. He is regarded as the ablest of the Judges who have adorned that Bench. He was especially successful in the elucidation of the land laws, and paved the way for settling land litigation in that State. He died 24 July, 1896. Of the nine children of Judge Snyder and his wife, Henrietta Cary, four died in infancy; four still surviving, 1908.

55 SALLIE MATHEWS⁶ CARY (William,⁵ William,⁴ Mary³ Beatty, William,² John¹), eighth child of William Cary, Junior (36), and Ophelia Mathews, was born 24 April, 1846. He was born 24 October, 1841, and was a native of Highland County, Virginia. He served during the Civil War as a member of the Thirty-first Virginia Infantry, C. S.

He was a lawyer of marked ability, possessing an acute and discriminating mind, and enjoyed a large practice both in Pocahontas and Greenbrier Counties, West Virginia. He died at Lewisburg 7 September, 1895.

56 WILLIE ANNE⁶ CARY (William,⁵ William,⁴ Mary³ Beatty, William,² John¹), youngest child of William Cary, Junior (36), and Ophelia Mathews. After graduating at the Convent of the Visitation at Frederick, Maryland, she was married at Lewisburg, West Virginia, to Rudolph Samuel Turk, who was born in Augusta County, Virginia, 6 December, 1849. He was educated at private schools; particularly at one established at Mossy Creek, Virginia, by his father, the late Colonel Rudolph Turk. He entered Roanoke College, and later studied law at the University of Virginia. At the time of their marriage he was a practicing lawyer in Pocahontas County, West Virginia, and was Prosecuting Attorney for that County, a position he held for eight years. In 1888 he removed with his wife to Wichita, Kansas, and formed a law partnership with William K. Carlisle, son of the Hon. John G. Carlisle of Kentucky. The death of Colonel Rudolph Turk caused them to return to Virginia. They then located in Staunton in 1890 and have since resided there. Mr. Turk follows his profession as lawyer and incidentally edits the "Staunton Spectator," a newspaper of which he is the owner. He has filled a number of appointive positions under the Governors of Virginia. One of his brothers, J. Alexander Turk, died at Richmond, Va., 1 January, 1889; another brother, the late William A. Turk, so distinguished as the Passenger Traffic Manager of the Southern Railway, died at Washington, D. C., 9 April, 1904, leaving Mr. Turk the sole survivor of his family.* Mr. and Mrs. Turk have no children.

Mrs. Turk is a member of the Colonial Dames of Virginia, based upon the colonial services of her lineal ancestors, Captain John Mathews and Lieutenant Sampson Archer of Augusta County, Virginia.† She is a member of the Maryland Line Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution, through the services of her grandfather, William Cary, Senior, in the 7th Regiment Maryland Line, Revolutionary War.‡ She is also a member of the Society of Americans of Royal Descent, through her ancestor, William Asfordby of Stayne-in-the-Marsh, Lincolnshire, England, and Kingston and Marbletown, Ulster County, New York, the father of Susanna Asfordby, wife of John Beatty. William Asfordby was a descendant of the Plantagenet Royal Line of England as elsewhere shown in Part 1 of this volume.§

57 ROBERTA⁶ CARY (Robert C. J.,⁵ William,⁴ Mary³ Beatty, William,² John¹), only child of Robert Casper Jefferson Cary (37) of Lewisburg, West Virginia, and Tiffin, Ohio, and of his wife, Frances Crowe Mathews, was born about 1835 and was early left an orphan, both parents dying before she was three years old (see 38). She was educated at the Academy, Lewisburg, Va.; the Locust Lane School, Adams County, Miss.; Mrs. B. H. Minor's School, Richmond, Va.; and Miss English's School, Georgetown, D. C. Her first husband, whom she married in September, 1856, was Richard Corbin of Moss Neck, Caroline County, Va., who was killed in the Confederate service at Culpeper, 1863. He is mentioned in the University of Virginia "Memorial," in Dabney's Life of General T. J. Jackson, in Colonel Henderson's Life of Stonewall Jackson and other historical works. He was the son of James Parke Corbin, Esquire. Some years after his death Roberta Cary married for the second time in September, 1870, Rev. Ovid A. Kinsolving, D. D., of the Episcopal Church, Middleburg, Loudoun County, Va. She was his third wife. By his first wife Dr. Kinsolving was the father of Mr. Charles Kinsolving of Washington, D. C., and of Bishop George Herbert Kinsolving of Texas, and by his second wife Dr. Kinsolving was the father of Bishop Lucien Lee Kinsolving of Brazil and Rev. Arthur Barksdale Kinsolving, formerly Rector of Christ Church, Brooklyn, N. Y., and now of St. Paul's Church, Baltimore, Maryland.

58 FRANCES MARIA⁶ RITCHIE (Robert,⁵ William,⁴ Mary³ Middagh, Martha² Beatty, John¹), oldest child of Robert Ritchie (41) and Maria Barbara Fritchie, was born 23 June, 1810, at Frederick, Maryland.* Her mother was the widow of William Cary, Senior, by her first marriage. It is somewhat singular that the children of Maria Barbara Fritchie by both her marriages should be descendants of John Beatty and Susanna Asfordby, the Cary family descending from William Beatty (3), second son of John and Susanna Beatty, and the Ritchie family descending through Martha, their eighth child. Maria Barbara Fritchie also survived her second husband, Robert Ritchie, and died at Fort Ball, near Tiffin, Ohio, 23 May, 1834.† Frances Maria Ritchie was married 25 June, 1835, in Tiffin, Ohio, to George Knupp,‡ who was born in Berkley County, Virginia, 3 December, 1812. According to a history of Seneca County, Ohio, he was Postmaster of Tiffin, Ohio, under five administrations, was County Treasurer two terms; Treasurer of the Seneca County Mutual Fire Insurance Company; County Commissioner, and, for many years, member of the Board of Education which gave to Tiffin some of the first schools in the State of Ohio.

RITCHIE LETTERS.

“Annapolis 20th January 1800.

“Dear Brother

“Since my last Letter to you I was unfortunately attack'd by the throat by a disease in some cases fatal, but in mine thank God! very trivial—By twisting my stocking foot around my neck—bathing my feet & sweating like a laborious Son of Vulcan, in two or three days it bade me farewell—Mr. Stevens had nearly kickd the Buckett—And two or three more who board with me were also attack'd—The major part of us who were seized with the soar throat were first attackd with a swelling on the inneside—But mine oweing I dare say to my continually keeping it expanded by meat &c—swell'd on the outer side—But now, as it was before I was attack'd, my only mortification is that I am obliged on account of my rav'nous appetite to continue last at the table—But I hope that false modesty will soon vanish.

“On Sunday last our Poorhouse valued at perhaps two thousand & odd pounds was burned to the ground—It was really a piteous sight to behold the poor

Idiots shivering in the cold, lamenting the downfall of their quiet Habitation—How it caught fire—God knows!—I suppose you are almost tired of my Letters—continually writing—not a word of news—and my Letters wrote so bad—Why Sir you must really excuse me—because people come here to have business done, & must start in a few moments—and those few moments only I have in which to arrange my Ideas which are few Indeed God knows—

“I have been very busy this week or two, making out my Masters fees—you may rely upon it a student at Law mindfull of his buisness & his masters has not much time to spare—

“Study hard My Boy and be assured in three or four years you will reap the Benifit—Looking in a Baltimore Paper last night which was confirming the truth of Gister’s being made by Boneparte which infuses Delirium in Every Democratic perecranium—I was surprised on hearing that you were Consul for U. States at Cape Republican, & had a notion to get angry—when I recollected myself—reflecting that perhaps there might Be another Robert Ritchie Esqr. That you may soon be able to fill that station with due Dignity is the sincere wish of an affectionate Brother.

“Wm. Ritchie, Jun^r.

“Compt^s to Father Mother & family Grandmother & fam Unkle Abner &c. &c. &c.”

“Annapolis 1801.

“Affectionate tho neglectful Brother

“Many revolving Suns have passed o’er my anxious head since I received your last Epistle and this Letter respectfully demands the cause of the apparent Inattention.

“Tell me, if you please, what is now the subject of your daily occupation. Has Unkle Abner removed to Washington? what Business does he pursue, with whom connected.

“As Mr. Potts sets out immediately I must hasten to conclude my scratch lest he depart without it. Present my best Respects to Mr. Butler, tell him I long to hear from him and will not be arraigned at the Frederick Bar for some time.

“If A. Ritchie still resides in Frederick tell him to write me. Farewell the carriage waits.

“Yr. friend & Brother

“Wm. Ritchie Jun.”

“August 1st. 1801.

“Dear Robert

“I received your last letter by Mr. Stone with all those Emotions which an affectionate Brother will ever feel on those occasions. I felt perhaps more than ordinary pleasure, partly from my not receiving a single line from you for a great length of time and partly from a gratification which will always result to my mind on seeing an only Brother, one as dear to my soul as my existence itself, alive to something like feeling and brotherly affection.

“After I had written to you repeatedly, and received nothing in return, I had like to have made a rather precipitate resolution, not to have written you again. But nature on her formation of man implanted in his Bosom certain qualifications, which and which only render life sustainable, and which cannot be eradicated until a man so far departs from his nature as to become inferior to the beasts, over whom natures God originally gave him Dominion. Among those passions or affections of the mind is the love one brother should ever bear toward the other, and it was this mental stimulus which urged me to write, whether You did or did not answer my letters.

“Give me permission to inform you, my Brother, that you have unfortunately taken up as erroneous an Idea as I have ever heard read or conceived of. You indirectly declare that you came from the Hands of the author of your existence, a Brute beast—Gracious Heaven protect me. I should be extremely sorry to think so indeed. You well know my Ideas of your Understanding. And that you should say you were by nature lazy, really astonishes me. You also know my Ideas of Duty. Duty towards your parents, yourself and Society. But it is now almost ten oClock you must absolutely excuse me writing more this evening for I am fearful Mr. Shauff has gone to bed as he starts early in the morning.

“Write to me frequently give my love and respects to Father & Mother & Family & inform them I am pretty well—I did expect letters both from Mamma and Mariah by Mr. Stone but was disappointed,

“Farewell and believe me to be

“Your affectionate Brother

“Wm. Ritchie Jun.

TWO RITCHIE DOCUMENTS.

The first part of the following letter is missing, the original being much worn. The date, 1805, and the letters “ution,” evidently the conclusion of the word “Constitution,” and forming part of the heading of the letter, are still remaining in the upper right hand corner, as are also the last few words of the first three lines. On the back of the letter there is another one written, dated from Fort Constitution, January 10th, 1834, in which the writer announces his arrival at Fort Constitution, and mentions Captain Gates and Dr. Goodhue. The letter is unfinished and unsigned.

“for the use of Capt. Gates’ company.

“I transmit you a communication, made to me by the commanding officer of Fort Constitution, representing the necessity of repairing the barrack house so far as to raise it another story, or of erecting a new building upon a totally different plan. This transmission, I am induced to make, from a consideration of the information you have given me in your letter of the 30th May, that when any repairs of buildings or fortifications are represented to me as necessary, the amount of which will exceed fifty dollars, that I should state the same to your office, that it may be submitted to the Secretary of War &c.

“Capt. Gates has presented his accounts and vouchers for disbursements which were made from the last of March, when he last transmitted his accounts to you, to the period when I commenced acting as assistant Military Agent, amounting to 305 Dols. 15 1-2 Cts.; also a disbursement made to Joseph Trickey, a seafaring man, for the freight of clothing and powder, who was prevented, by absence, from transmitting his account to Lieut. Swett, to whom it should have been offered, before Mr. Swett last transmitted his accounts. I have made Capt. Gates a payment in consideration of the aforesaid disbursements, but have concluded it is my duty to make a representation to you upon the subject, and obtain your directions and a pecuniary remittance, previously to making any further payment, and have rendered him under an obligation to account to me for what has been paid, provided he should at any future time, by your request, transmit his accounts to you, and receive a payment of the whole, not through my hands, but immediately from yourself.

“I would represent that the sum of money for which I am responsible, which I received when I commenced discharging the duty of ass^t M^y Agent, has been exhausted, and that I have since made expenditures since beyond the amount of two hundred dollars, for which I depend upon a future remittance. With considerations of the highest esteem and respect

OBITUARY NOTICE OF MARTIN KNUPP.

"It was with the deepest feelings of sorrow that the community learned of the death of Mr. Martin Knupp Tuesday morning. He passed peacefully away at his home on West Washington street, having been in poor health for a number of years, . . .

“Martin Knupp was well known throughout this part of Ohio, and in all his business dealings was recognized as an honest and honorable man. He was a citizen respected by everybody. He was an uncompromising Democrat, and before his ill health was always found in the front ranks of his party laboring in its interest and for the advancement of its principles.

“Mr. Knupp was born and raised in Tiffin, Ohio, where he attended Heidelberg college for a number of years. He was also a student at Kenyon college. He was a son of Hon. Geo. Knupp, who was a prominent citizen and politician of Tiffin. His mother was Frances Ritchie, who came from a family of noted and talented personages. He was born on the 4th of August, 1841, and died Feb. 12th, 1908.

“Mr. Knupp studied law with Judge Pillars of Tiffin, who is now dead, and practiced with Judge McCauley, who is still living at Tiffin, being recognized as one of the ablest lawyers in Ohio. He moved to Ottawa in 1867, where he engaged in law practice with Hon. David I. Brown. He was married in Ottawa to Miss Mary Minerva Pugh on Nov. 26th, 1868, to which union two daughters were born, Frances and Georgia, who are left with their mother to mourn the departure of a companion and father.

“From Ottawa Mr. Knupp removed with his family to Deshler, where he continued to practice law. During his residence in Deshler he was elected to the office of Prosecuting Attorney of this county, when he removed to Napoleon in 1878. He served two terms as Prosecutor with distinction and fidelity, . . .

“After his term of office he formed a law partnership with the late Walter Stephenson, which partnership continued until the removal of Mr. Stephenson from the county and state.

“The Henry County Bar Association held a meeting at the Wellington last night, to take appropriate action upon the death of Mr. Knupp, who was President of the Association.

"The funeral will be held from the house Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock, Rev. Wm. A. Mast officiating."—The Northwest News, Napoleon, Ohio, February 13, 1908.

"Resolutions on the Death of Martin Knupp."

"Whereas, on the 12th day of February, 1908, Martin Knupp, the honored and esteemed president of this Bar Association passed from our midst at the age of 67 years:

"We, the Henry County Bar Association, in special assembly, express our heartfelt sympathy and sorrow upon the loss which this Association has sustained.

"Resolved, That in the death of brother Knupp, our Bar has lost an able and esteemed member, who as a lawyer was always faithful and true; a student who thoroughly mastered his cases; and an untiring and zealous worker; whose briefs always showed rare tact and ability. He had high sense of professional honor. While he justly appreciated his relations to his clients and strictly and fully performed his duty to them, neither the glory of success nor the hope of reward ever tempted him to take an unfair advantage or do a dishonorable act, such was his high sense of professional honor that he regarded the ethics of his profession as sacred.

"Resolved, That the sympathy of the Association is extended to his family in their bereavement and that a copy of these sentiments be spread upon the journal of the Court of Common Pleas of this County.
